

APOCRYPHAL MYSTERY TOUR

So in tonight's devotional:

I put 2 prophets head to head.

Spencer W. Kimball on what to do when Bigfoot attacks.

Lilith will try to start feminism.

And what was Enoch's role in the US. occupation of Afghanistan?

D&D

- Dragons, Dinosaurs, and Unicorns were not only in the Garden of Eden, but on the ark as well. However, they were likely much more mundane than Fantasia would have you think.
- The Book Of Job includes a passage of the Lord boasting about how cool Behemoth is, theorized to be long necked herbivore, thus inspiring the Land Before Time movies, created by a LDS member.
- During the conversion of the royal family in Daniel, we have records of Daniel clearing away false Gods such as Bel and a Dragon, in a book titled Bel and the Dragon.
- This dragon likely functioned like a Bombardier beetle, with tales of fire breathing being corrupted oral tradition.

Lilith's Kitchen

- In some Jewish folklore, such as the Alphabet of Sirach, Lilith appears as Adam's first wife, who was created at the same time and from the same clay as Adam.
- Lilith left Adam after she refused to become subservient to him and then would not return to the Garden of Eden after she had coupled with the archangel Samael, choosing to become a demon and curse upon the earth instead.
- Lilith's only canon appearance is in Isaiah 34:14, but her name is absent from most common Bible translations such as KJV and NIV, normally translated to just be a simple owl.
- Some say that she is personally responsible for stillbirths in Eve's seed, and that if the serpent would have tried to tempt her, she would have eaten it instead of the fruit because she has zero chill.

Master Mahan

- Turns out Lilith wasn't needed because Eve's seed is perfectly capable of killing themselves after they are born.
- For reasons such as jealousy over flocks and women, lack favor with the Lord, and loving Satan more, Cain commits the first murder and is cursed to walk the earth forever, given a mark for protection.
- The mark of Cain has been debated to be a large scar, skin tone, or hair growth by scholars and idiots alike for hundreds of years, and has been used to justify some absolute rot.
- The apostle David W. Patten says he met Cain, and that his mark was indeed hair. This has been used to explain Bigfoot sightings in Utah.
- The most recent reference to Bigfoot in LDS expanded canon comes from a book by Spencer W. Kimball, titled Miracle of Forgiveness.

Moses vs Enoch: Insane Theology

- The Book Of Enoch, a book most churches don't consider canon, is quoted a bunch by Peter and Paul in their letters, so any problems you have with the stuff I'm about to say need to be taken up with them.
- It is surprisingly similar to the Book Of Moses in that large portions are the Lord giving a prophet visions of earth's history and the people in it, Enoch recording just about everything up to Maccabees ahead of time.
- Both books also contain tales of a blotched interaction with the supernatural.

- According to the book of Genesis, the sons of god saw the daughters of man that they were fair, and took them to wife, creating a race of super giants known as the Nephilim.
 - The Book Of Enoch elaborates that the sons of man where angles known as the Watchers, and that in addition to cross mortality romance, they started leaking heavenly secrets such as how fire and magic works.
 - Once the Nephilim start destroying stuff, they realize they messed up big time, and they ask Enoch to pray for them to be forgiven. God shoves the lot of them into a dark room to wait for the final judgement, where things won't go well for them.
 - This is not to be confused with the angels of the Euphrates river, upstream from Eden, recorded in the not dissimilar Book Of Revelations in the New Testament, who are on their way to your house.

And somehow, things got worse.

- Lamech saw Bigfoot and thought, "I want that." So he kills a man to try and become Super-Bigfoot, sparking of a chain of Watcher-core tactics in the form of secret combinations.
- Shortly, after, Enoch and co just take off and bring an entire city to heaven as a final "screw you" to the Watchers, while the Lord puts a limit on human life and prepares to drop the entire firmament on the Earth, only sparing Noah because his gene pool is free of the angel-giant rubbish.
- Still, could be worse.

Things got even worse because we have to talk about David again.

- David's first wife was baron as a curse from the Lord for laughing at David's dance moves, no I am not making this up. Legend has it David's stole lifespan from Adam for himself, and that's a big reason why he lived to have his son Salomon.
- Additionally, rumors say the US military found a Nephilim hanging out in a cave in Afghanistan, and killed it. Not out of the question for them to be around still, because David fought a giant and that was ages after the flood.
